AGREE. Out of ten thousand regular physicians you cannot find one who will not say that Stimulants and Invigorants are absolutely necessary in medical practice. And yet in by-gone years humane practitioners have hesitated to administer them, because the fiendish ingenuity of wretches who make merchandise of human infirmities, had so polluted and deteriorated them that the remedy was deemed as dangerous as the disease. This perplexity is happily done away with. Physicians know, because the first analytical chemists of the age have demonstrated the fact, that HOSTETTER'S CELE-BRATED STOMACH BITTERS are absolutely and entirely free from all pernicious elements. Hence they have been introduced into the United States Army, and are accepted, whereon the testimony of the wise, the intelligent and the philanthropic is rated at its just value, as the best protective against and cure for all diseases arising from impurity in the air or other unhealthy climate influences, that has ever been tested by experience. In cases of Dyspepsis and Liver Complaint, we state without qualification or reservation, that the Bitters are as nearly infallible as anything prepared by human skill can be.

The President's Assassination Announced-Great Sensation Produced-Action taken in Parliament-An Address to the Queen to be moved—Deep Sorrow and Indigna-tion Expressed—Various Meetings Held— Resolutions Adopted, &c. - Effect of Lee's Surrender - The "Times" Acknowledges the War Over-Gratifying Demonitra. tions at Brussels.

ARRIVAL OF THE HIBERNIAN. PORT AU BASQUE,6th, via Calais, 7th .- The Hibernian passed at 2.30 en route to Quebec. In the House of Lords, on Thursday night, Earl Russell, and in the House of Commons Sir George Gregon, on behalf of Lord Palmersion, gave notice that they would on the first of May, move an address to the Queen expressing horror and indignation at the assassination of President Lincoln, and praying her to convey that expression of feeling to the American Government. Two great meetings were held in Liverpool, which, after appropriate speeches had been delivered, adopted unanimously resolutions expressing horror and deep sorrow at the as-sasination. The commercial body of London adopted similar resolutions, and likewise official bodies in various towns and provinces. The Americans in London assembled in Grosvenor Hotel, on the invitation of F. Wood. The meeting adjourned to the 1st of May, when Minister Adams will preside at the mass meeting of Americans at St. James Hall. The Italian Chamber of Deputies has adopted an address expressing grief at President Lincoln's assassination, and the chamber was draped in mourning in his honor. Paris letters state that the most profound and universal regret and indignation was expressed there at the assassination. ARRIVAL OF THE AMERICA. New York, May 7 .- The steamship Amer-

the 21th The London Times says: "The end has come at last, and the great American war has virtually closed by Lee's surrender of the Virginia army. The tone of the correspondence between Grant and Lee is honorable to both. The conditions were such that it was no disgrace for an over matched army to accept. Not even Napoleon's grand army could count a series of more brilliant victories than the Army of Virginia. They were victorious until vic-tory was no longer to be achieved by human valor, and they fell with honor. Two years ago Lee could have escaped to Lynchburg, but now the Federal Generals move with as great rapidity and attack as Napoleon's marshals. The Federal army is entitled to a rank among the very first in military nations. All attempts to establish a Southern Confederacy must be abandoned." imes of Tuesday says: "With defeat of the Southerners the greatest difficul-ties of the Federal Government set in. After the restoration of the Federal authority, and the reduction of the South to obedience, an overwhelming prospect will open before Mr. Lincoln's administration. Much lies between the conquest of the South and the restoration of the Union, in the face of political problems of unexampled difficulty to be confronted. Such questions as the regeneration of the currency, reform of the tariff, and management of the national debt, important as they are in themselves, may appear insignificant." Notwithstanding the strong sympathy they feel for the South in Liverpool, the intelligence of Lee's surrender was received with great satisfaction, causing increased confidence in commercial circles.

New York, May 7.—A Raleigh letter of the 30th ult., states that Sherman and his staff left that day for Charleston and Savannah, thence going to Richmond to meet his army, which was to leave Raleigh the next Monday. Sherman issued an order announcing the final agreement of surrender by Johnston. It prohibits all foraging and provides certain ways to relieve the pressing wants of the inhabitants. The 10th and 23d corps remain in the Department of North Carolina, together with Kilpatrick's cavalry. Stoneman's cavalry has been ordered to East Tennessee. Wilson is on the Tennessee river, near Decatur, Alabama. The army of Tennessee will march to Rich-

IMPORTANT FROM MOBILE. Union Movement to Selma-Wilson Expected to Crush Forrest-The Rebel Gen. Maury at Meridian.

A special despatch to the Chicago Times, dated Cairo, May 26, states: "I learn from a gentleman who has just arrived here from Mobile that all the troops which invested that city, except those of Gen. Granger's command, left Mobile on the 14th ult., with twenty days' rations, for an expedition up the Alabama river. The expedition is accompanied by some of our best gunboats, and it is supposed that it would reach Selma before the 25th ult.

"The greatest efforts possible were being made to capture the rebel troops who evacuated Mobile, and General Wilson was expected to make short work of Forrest. We may look for startling news from that direction in a

"Meridian papers of April 20, and Jackson of the 22d, centain the following: Colonel W. S. Patton, commanding the 3d district Mississippi State troops, has ordered the commanders of companies to keep one-third of their men on duty, and the remainder ready at a moment's notice. Militia officers are to report to sheriffs. General Maury, who commanded at Mo-bile, has established his headquarters at Meridian. All the officers and men in Alabama and Mississippi, belonging to the commands in North Carolina and Virginia, are ordered to report to General Maury immediately.

The Fall of Richmond-Last Scenes Before the Evacuation. [RichmondCorrespondence of London Herald.]

The scene in the city during the confi gration is said to have been perfectly appalling. The sound of bursting shells in the Government arsenals, the roar of the flames, the volcano-like eruptions caused by the upheaval of immmense masses of debris through the explosion of powder in the laboratory, arsenals and adjoining storehouses, the dense masses of smoke, the shricks and yells of the populace, combined to make such an impression as can never be effaced from the memory of any one who witnessed the fearful scene. Over the Bank of Virginia a handsome Confe erate flag floated, sometimes concealed by the clouds of smoke, at other times standing out against a clear sky over the leaping flames that vainly sought to gather it within their embrace; and only when the massive walls of the structure fell in did the defiant emblem sink into the crater beneath. There were but few flags flying when the Union troops entered, but shortly afterward a great deal of star-spangled banner patched the sky, and it would seem, if the view in the perspective be any evidence, that, as judged by the amount of Federal bunting, Richmond must be a very "loyal" city. But three other "Rebel" ensigns, besides that I have alluded to, I am informed, were visible at the time of the occupation of the city by the Federal soldiery.

None of the buildings on Capitol Square were burned, although the structure used as the office of the Confederate War Department, directly opposite the Capitol, was destroyed. St Paul's Church, which stands on 9th street, next to the site of the ing, is untouched. In this church President Davis was sitting at the time Gen. Lee's telegram announcing the turning of the Confederate right on the White Oak road was received. The clergyman had nearly finished his sermon when an orderly entered the church, passed straight to the President's pew, and handed him the fatal despatch. Mr. Davisimmediately proceeded to the War Department, thence to the capitol, and thence to the Richmond and Danville railroad depot, where he made the necessary preparations for the conveyance of his family to a place of safety. He remained in the city until near nightfall, when he left in the 5.30 train. Much of his household and personal property was sent away several weeks since, and when he took his final departure from Richmond he had very little baggage with him.

The success of the Federals on their left wing was made known to the entire population of Richmond within an hour from the time that Mr. Davis received the news, and from this moment until the occupation of the city by the United States soldiery, incessant and indescribable confusion prevailed. During the forenoon of Sunday the town had been unusually quiet, the movement of scattered detachments of troops alone marring the stillness of the day. A little after noon people began to congregate in the streets, and knots grew rapidly in all the corners, crossings, and sidewalks. Soon carts, trucks, drays, hayricks, ambulances, army wagons, vehicles, in short, of all descriptions, loaded with household goods and Government stores, began to pour out of the alleys and by-ways into the main thoroughfares, and even on towards the South Side, the Government wagons proceeding directly to the Danville depot. The alarm spread, and thousands of excited individuals. with arms full of property of all portable sorts, rushed headlong toward the vital ave-nue of escape. These were the persons who had determined to cast their fortunes with the Confederate Government, and hoped to save something, if only a little, from the general wreck. Others took the matter more coolly; unable or unwilling to move, or having nothing to save, they preferred to trust to the mercies of the Northern soldiers.

All that hot Sunday afternoon the streets were filled with gangs of negroes carrying bundles and boxes, articles of every imaginable character that might be transported on the shoulders or heads of men, rushing hither and thither, and adding to the general tremendous confusion by an incessant chorus of witless yells and outcries. The better class of the Richmond white population acted with what seemed, under the circumstances, extraordinary calmness, for, although they had ex pected the evacuation, they had, one all, fondly hoped, even against hope, that they might be spared the last crushing humiliation of giving up the city their friends and brethren in the trenches had so long and gallantly protected. Nobody went to bed on Sunday night. The streets were filled with masses of armed men, with long lines of Government wagons, with hurrying citizens and laboring negroes, while the tumult was incessant. Long trains were constantly departing over the Danville road, and the shrill shriek of the locomotive whistle was almost continuous from night until morning. At the commissary depot, situated at the head of the Government dock, heavy detachments of men were hard at work from two o'clock on Sunday afternoon until six e'clock on Monday morning, filling hundreds upon hundreds of Government wagons with the stores provided for the great armies of Lee; and a throng of men and women, carrying baskets, pots, pans, and utensils of all sorts, surrounded the baildings, waiting in frantic eagerness for the signal to help themselves. The banks were open all night, and crowded with depositors, anxiously waiting their turn to withdraw their specie; and closely guarded vans were loaded both here and at the Treasury building, with the Government builton, to be transported over the Danville road. Millions of dollars in Confederate and State notes were cast into the streets, cut to pieces by order of the Government officials and bank directors, while bales of unsigned notes were scattered broadcoast all about the Treasury building.

MONTREAL, May 4, 1865 .- To the People of Canada: I have this moment seen the proclamation of Andrew Johnson, acting President of the United States, stating that wit appears, from evidence, in the Bureau of Military Jus-

Gazette of Friday:

President, Abraham Lincoln, and the attempted assassination of the Hon. W. H. Seward, Secretary of State, was incited, concerted, and procured by and between Jefferson Davis, late of Richmond, Va., and Jacob Thompson, Clement C. Clay. Beyond Thompson, Clement C. Clay, Beverly Tucker, George N. Sanders, Wm. C. Cleary, and others, rebels and traitors against the Government of the United States, harbored in Canada," and offering rewards for the apprehension of the accused; $25,000 being the sum offered for my arrest. It is scarcely possible that such proclamation would have been issued unless some such "evidence" has been adduced. What such the identified and the identified are in the identified as a large transition of the identified and its identified are in the identified as a large transition of the identified are identified as a large transition of the identified are identified as a large transition of the identified are identified as a large transition of the identified are identified as a large transition of the apprehension of the accused; $100.000 and $100.0000 and $100.000 such "evidence" is I am totally at a loss to conjecture. I am compelled, therefore to content myself with the declaration that whosoever nath sworn to anything authorizing in the slightest degree suspicion of my having "incited, concerted, or procured," or of any knowledge whatever by me of the attacks made on the President and Mr. Seward, or any acts or projects of a kindred character, or of any plan to kidnap or capture either of them, or any of the Federal authorities, hath blackened his soul with diabolical perjury. Until information reached here of the attack on President Lincoln by J. Wilkes Booth, and that on Mr. Seward by some other person, I did not know that any such person as J. Wilkes Booth existed. I had never heard of him before. I do not know any of the persons in arrest at Washington, and never heard of them till I read the notices in the United States newspapers of their apprehension. I have, within a day or two, made inquiry, and as-certained that Mr. Booth left St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal, on the 27th of October last. The officers of the Ontario Bank state that on that day he purchased of the bank a bill on England for £61 12s. 1d., for which he paid in American gold, and, at the same time, made a deposit of $355 Canada money, which yet remains to his credit, and that he stated he intended to run the blockade. Whether he made such attempt, or went into the United States by railroad, I have not ascertained. The clerks in the St. Lawrence Hall inform me that he arrived at -the house on the 18th of October, being here nine days. I was not in Montreal during that time. My association with the other gentlemen named in this atrocious proclamation has been intimate for years, and I admit it would be strange if they had any knowledge of Mr. Booth's purposes, that I should be in utter ignorance of it. The whole business is, in my deliberate judgment, an attempt to get up a pretext for a diffi-culty with the British Provinces, and the consideration that since I have been here I have received nothing but hospitality and kindness from you, impels me to make this brief address to aid in the dissipation of such pretext. I have to-day appealed to President Johnson and Secretary Stanton to allow me copies of the alleged "evidence," with respect to myself, to give me a chance to disprove it. I will add, that I will go before any magis-trate here and verify the above by my solemn oath, and that I will agree that the United States Consul, or any respectable Consul he may designate, shall cress-examine me in relation to the alleged "evidence," or any other and all acts of my life. BEVERLY TUCKER.

LETTER FROM CLEARY. Cleary's letter is published in the Toronto Leader, and reads as follows: To the Editor of the Leader:

SIR: The reward of $10,000 offered for my capture, by President Johnson, imperatively

demands that I should take the first opportunity and the most public means of referring to the proclamation which brands me before the world as a participator in the murder of the late President of the United States. The other gentlemen whose names are associated th mine, I leave to speak for themselves. In this proclamation I am referred to as the clerk of Mr. C. C. Clay. I deny most emphatically that I ever occupied such a position. As to the assassination of Mr. Lincoln, I declare before high heaven and the whole world that I knew nothing of it until it had been committed and announced in the newspapers. There is not a particle of truth in the statement that I "concoted and incited" the assassination. The announcement of the great crime came upon me, as it no doubt did upon thousands of others who read it in the papers on the day succeeding Good Friday, like a clap of thunder; and I shared with all my heart in the general regret that so foul a deed had been committed, and that too at a time when the war as I considered had virtually been brought to a close. Positive proof of my innocence is, of course, impossible for me to produce. But if circum-stantial evidence is of no avail, I may state that only a week ago I went to Detroit under safe conduct" of the "military authorities," to arrange my affairs and return to my native State. If I had been guilty of the crime laid to my charge, does any one suppose that I would have ventured to go upon American soil, when important revelations were daily being made and numerous persons being arrested! I can do no more now than openly and unequivocally assert my innocence. In doing this, I appeal to the justice of a community which, I trust, will not sentence me unheard; and to the right feeling of the Government at Washington, who have been most egregiously de-ceived, if any evidence has been put in their possession which would make me the accomplice of assassins. Asking your favor for the insertion of this spectfully,

An ingenious contrivance has been invented by a Mr. Adolphe Baab, to prevent robberies from iron safes or other depositories of property. It consists of an electrical apparatus, which, by the ordinary system of telegraphic street wires, can be placed in communication with the nearest police station, and which, on the slightest attempt to tamper with any part of the safe, will sound an alarm, and not only inform the police that the robbery is in progress, but acquaint them, by means of a number, with the precise safe that is being attacked .- Foreign Papers.

The expenses attending the production of petroleum is so triling that the nation profits by it more than from any mining or railway operations. The income of $75,000,000 will not cost over $2,000,000 in expenses. Gold, silver and coal mining costs about sixty to seventy per cent. for working expenses. The petroleum product of the United States promises to rival in amount the whole cotton crop of the South.

The annual message of Gov. Buckingham delivered to the Connecticut Legislature says the expenditures caused by the rebellion have burdened the State with a funded debt of $8,000,000, and an unfunded one of $3,523,-413 74. The amount to the credit of the sinking fund is $1,128,394 79. The schools and other State institutions are all in a flourishing condition.

There will be the usual morning concert on the common, regatta, balloon ascensions, fireworks and entertainments for the children. The military display, it is anticipated, will exceed any ever witnessed in Boston on such an occasion. The oration will be delivered in the Music Hall by the Hon. Charles Sumner.
